Notes for Applicants

1. The ACRIB card provides evidence that an individual has successfully passed a certificate of safe refrigerant handling/F Gas & ODS Refrigerant handling. It is the responsibility of the card holder to seek re-certification if a qualification should exceed its date of expiry .
2. Because of continually changing technology, introduction of new refrigerants and changes to environmental regulation and legislation, registration is normally for a period of three years. However, the GB F Gas Regulations require that operatives handling HFCs successfully complete one of the new F Gas assessments by 4th July 2011.

If you only hold one of the older refrigerant handling qualifications (City and Guilds 2078 or CITB J01 scheme) issued before 9th March 2009 the UK Government has deemed that this is acceptable as temporary evidence of qualification. However your ACRIB card will only be valid for handling of F Gas Refrigerants up to 4th July 2011 which is when this temporary evidence expires. You will still be legally qualified to handle Ozone Depleting refrigerants such as HCFC R-22 after this date.

If you hold one of the new qualifications City & Guilds 2079 or CITB J11 your card will be valid for a full three years from date of issue.

3. Responsibility for re-registration lies with the registrant.
4. Applicants should verify requirements for re-registration prior to their registration expiry date via our website at www.acrib.org.uk or contact ACRIB at 020 8254 7842 or email acrib@acrib.org.uk for details.
5. Please supply two passport size photographs. (The head and shoulders should be no larger than 3cm x 2.5cm)
6. The original training certificate is required. Photocopies are not acceptable. You can apply to have your certificate and card return by recorded delivery.
7. Please make cheques/postal orders for registration fees payable to 'ACRIB' for £40. This includes VAT at 17.5%. If applying for renewal of registration as a handler of both ammonia and non-ammonia refrigerants the registration fee is £80.
8. You can download further copies of this form at www.acrib.org.uk
